

Master of Science in Criminal Justice

The Master of Science in Criminal Justice program at Colorado Christian University will provide you with the competencies necessary to be a successful leader in the criminal justice system. It will also help you develop character and courage of moral conviction necessary to be a force for good and to administer justice in a manner based upon biblical principles.

Upon graduation from this master's program, you will be a knowledgeable and articulate leader, proficient in all aspects of criminal justice. You will also have an enhanced application of analysis, decision-making, and problem solving, along with an understanding of contemporary management practices and organizational leadership skills.

The U. S. Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics projects that job growth for police officers, detectives, correctional officers, probation officers, forensic science technicians, and private investigators will consistently increase for the remainder of the decade.

If your career goals include a leadership position in criminal justice or a command position in law enforcement or security, then this program may be right for you. It is designed for those working in the field of criminal justice who may wish to move into a leadership position.
